Looks yummy

Women love things that smell good — especially if the smell evokes rich, calorie-laden food. These beauty products smell yummy enough to eat.

FROSTING FACE

Admit it: You've always wanted to smear chocolate all over your face. Live your fantasy with Lush's Cupcake face mask, made with cocoa powder and Rhassoul mud. It's so fresh, it has to be stored in the refrigerator. It keeps for about three weeks. $10.95 for 3.5 ounces at Lush in NorthPark Center. lushusa.com.

A TRIP TO THE BAKERY

Philosophy's Cinnamon Buns – a three-in-one shampoo, bath and shower gel – smells just like a gooey tray of cinnamon rolls. Paired with the gingerbread salt scrub, it creates a luxuriously sweet shower experience. 16-ounce shower gel and 20-ounce scrub, $25 at philosophy.com.

SUDSY HEAVEN

All-natural Fraiche soaps are made locally in Lewisville, and they come in a variety of food-like flavors. Our favorite is rich dark chocolate (bottom). In lieu of a chocolate bar for breakfast, it's probably the best way to start the day. $12.50 each at myfraiche.com.

LUSCIOUS CITRUS

Cracked elbows, feet and cuticles get instant relief with C.O. Bigelow's Lemon Body Cream. It's made with all-natural ingredients and smells like a basket of ripe, fresh-cut lemons. $19.50 for 8 ounces at Bath & Body Works, or bathandbodyworks.com.

SUN-KISSED TROPICS

Sephora's Guava Passion body lotion smells sweet and tropical, with notes of piña colada. It's not overpowering, though, so don't be afraid to slather it on. $18 for 8.4 ounces at Sephora stores or sephora.com.

HOLIDAY HAIKU

'Frosty the Snowman'

Frosty's a great pal

But he melts when it's sunny
Oh damn you, cruel fate

Frosty the Snowman and Frosty Returns air tonight at 7 on Channel 11.
